“ "There is a bridge that takes us home, one that we cannot walk around, When we see God's outstretched hand, we know we are homeward bound. We must not grieve, when loved ones leave, only God knows what is best, When our work on Earth is done, We must cross the bridge of rest."

“ Death is something we all can be sure we will face one day. Life is so short, and we should live each day like it's our last. Love on people, and laugh often. I am saddened to hear about the passing of my cousin. I can't even remember the last time I saw him. When I did, he would always joke around and had a smile that could light up any room. He had a voice that could have taken him far, but he chose to share it with his family, friends, and fellow church members. We will never understand the what, why, when, or how. God is in complete control, and he wanted his child back. To Dex's immediate family, I know you will miss him, and tears are going to flow. Hold onto all of the good memories you have and know that you have another guardian angel watching over you. May God give each of you peace and understanding and bless and keep each of you. Rest in heaven, cuz.
