“ You were an aunt anyone would be blessed to have. Growing up, I spent a lot of nights with you during school vacations and numerous weekends. You always said it was ok for a sleepover and would often invite me to stay. Your home was always opened. We would eat the best food that you cooked, especially a cake or two that you baked, and talk, and talk, sometimes late into the night. I always had fun and I learned a lot.

Even when I became an adult, you still would welcome my visits and treated me like a daughter. I loved you for that and love you to this day. After you became ill we didn't get to spend that much time together, also because of the physical distance between us, but I never felt there was any distance in our love for each other and the memories we shared.

You will be missed dearly, but I know you are in a place God has prepared for you and that one day we will be able to see each other again, at least I'm working for that.

With loving memories...
